Safety rules

During the cruise we take extreme care about the safety measures. Every boat is equipped with lifejackets and other safety equipment, the skippers are in constant contact with the cruise commander, all of the participants are taught how to use the basic rescue knots. In case of sudden bad weather, all boats are momentarily sent to nearest shore or port. Everyday before leaving the ships, the skippers consult each other about the weather conditions and possible dangers along the trail. We swim only under direct supervision of an experienced rescuer
